Meeting curriculum standards is a major focus in education today. This document highlights the correlation of Inspiration® with the English Language Arts Standards of Learning for Virginia Public Schools – Middle School.

The Inspiration Standards Match is designed to demonstrate the many ways Inspiration supports the standards and to give educators ideas for using this tool to meet learning goals across the curriculum.

How to read the Inspiration Standards Match:

- Pink highlight indicates a standard or objective that is supported by the use of Inspiration
- Green note annotation includes names of an Inspiration template that corresponds to the highlighted standard. These templates are part of the software program and act as starters or frameworks for student work.

Introduction

The goals of the English Standards of Learning are to teach students to read, write, and communicate. They should be prepared to participate in society as literate citizens, equipped with the ability to communicate effectively in their communities, in the workplace, and in postsecondary education. As students progress through the school years, they become active and involved listeners and develop a full command of the English language, evidenced by their use of standard English and their rich speaking and writing vocabularies.

Students become competent readers of a variety of texts and are encouraged to acquire a lifelong love of reading. In kindergarten through third grade, the primary goal is to teach all students to read fluently and to comprehend a variety of fiction and nonfiction selections that relate to all areas of the curriculum. In fourth through twelfth grades, students continue to acquire and refine strategies for comprehending and analyzing selections that encompass all literary genres, exemplify universal themes, and relate to all subjects. Students in high school become familiar with a wide variety of authors and classic literary works.

Proficient use of the English language enables students to explore and articulate the complex issues and ideas encountered in public and personal life. Students acquire the ability to make full and effective use of the written language in their future educational, occupational, and personal endeavors.

Organization of the English Standards of Learning

Standards for kindergarten through third grade are organized in three related strands: Oral Language, Reading, and Writing. Standards for fourth through twelfth grades are organized in four related strands: Communication: Speaking, Listening, and Media Literacy; Reading; Writing; and Research. Each grade level is preceded by an overview that describes the major concepts and skills that each student will be expected to understand and demonstrate. The standards reflect a comprehensive instructional program and document a progression of expected achievement in each of the strands. This organization of standards also reflects the gradual progression in the development of skills.

Oral Language includes speaking and listening in kindergarten through third grade. In the early grades, students learn to participate in classroom discussion. In grades three through twelve, students learn to prepare, deliver, and critique oral presentations. In grades four through twelve the Oral Language strand changes to become Communication: Speaking, Listening, and Media Literacy. Students will analyze, develop and produce media messages. However, students’ home and cultural languages are the starting point for all language learning; competency in the use of standard English is the goal for all students. Therefore, daily speaking opportunities, both formal and informal, should be a part of every English curriculum.

Reading begins with an awareness of the concepts of print and the sounds and structure of oral and written language. Students in the primary grades acquire a strong foundation in phonological and phonemic awareness, phonics, vocabulary, fluency, and comprehension strategies. Students continue to study the structure of words and language and refine comprehension strategies throughout all grades. In the middle school and high school grades, students analyze what they read and apply that learning. Both reading in other content areas and reading of nonfiction texts are essential for all students. Students’ appreciation for literary texts is enhanced by frequent interaction with a broad array of classic and contemporary literature, which engages the reading skills of students and invites them to develop an appreciation for the power and beauty of the written word. The combination of teachers reading aloud and students selecting reading materials is necessary in helping students develop a lifelong reading habit and an appreciation for literature.

Writing begins with letter formation and the use of letters to represent speech sounds. From kindergarten through twelfth grade, students become increasingly aware of the structure of language and the writing process. Improvement in written communication is achieved through frequent opportunities to apply narrative, expository, and persuasive/argumentative skills. Daily writing experiences are essential for all students.

Research standards are also developed across grade levels. In kindergarten through third grade, research skills are incorporated in the reading and writing strands. In grades four through twelve, research is a separate strand where students learn to access information, evaluate the validity of sources, document those sources, and synthesize that information into a research-based product.

Technology enhances student learning and supports instruction in reading, writing, and research. In the writing process, technology enables students to compose, revise, edit, share, and publish their writing. Information technology is an integral part of student learning, assisting students to produce effective written and oral communication.

Although the strands are developed separately, they are integrated in the classroom. Proficiency in reading, writing, listening, speaking, media literacy, and research skills allows students to learn and to use knowledge to make meaningful connections between their lives and academic disciplines. There should be a concerted effort to relate required reading selections in English to studies in other core subjects, including mathematics, science, and history and social science. Standards that incorporate rigor in English help students develop the expected performance competencies.
Grade Six

The sixth-grade student will be an active participant in classroom discussions. The student will present personal opinions, understand differing viewpoints, distinguish between fact and opinion, and analyze the effectiveness of group communication. The student will continue in the study of the elements of media literacy as introduced in earlier grades. The student will begin the study of word origins and continue vocabulary development. The student will read independently a variety of fiction and nonfiction texts, including a significant number of classic works, for appreciation and comprehension. The student will also plan, draft, revise, and edit narratives, descriptions, and explanations, with attention to composition and style as well as sentence formation, usage, and mechanics. The student will also demonstrate correct use of language, spelling, and mechanics by applying grammatical conventions in writing and speaking. In addition, technology will be used as a tool to research, organize, and communicate information. As in earlier grades, the meaning and consequences of plagiarism will be stressed.

Communication: Speaking, Listening, Media Literacy

6.1 The student will participate in and contribute to small-group activities.
   a) Communicate as leader and contributor.
   b) Evaluate own contributions to discussions.
   c) Summarize and evaluate group activities.

g) Explain how character and plot development are used in a selection to support a central conflict or story line.

h) Identify the main idea.

i) Identify and summarize supporting details.

j) Identify and analyze the author’s use of figurative language.

k) Identify transitional words and phrases that signal an author’s organizational pattern.

l) Use reading strategies to monitor comprehension throughout the reading process.

The student will read and demonstrate comprehension of a variety of nonfiction texts.

a) Use text structures such as type, headings, and graphics to predict and categorize information in both print and digital texts.

b) Use prior knowledge and build additional background knowledge as context for new learning.

c) Identify questions to be answered.

d) Make, confirm, or revise predictions.

e) Draw conclusions and make inferences based on explicit and implied information.

f) Differentiate between fact and opinion.

g) Identify main idea.

h) Summarize supporting details.

i) Compare and contrast information about one topic, which may be contained in different selections.

j) Identify the author’s organizational pattern.

k) Identify cause and effect relationships.

l) Use reading strategies to monitor comprehension throughout the reading process.

Writing

The student will write narration, description, exposition, and persuasion.

a) Identify audience and purpose.

b) Use a variety of prewriting strategies including graphic organizers to generate and organize ideas.

c) Organize writing structure to fit mode or topic.

d) Establish a central idea and organization.

e) Compose a topic sentence or thesis statement if appropriate.

f) Write multiparagraph compositions with elaboration and unity.

g) Select vocabulary and information to enhance the central idea, tone, and voice.

h) Expand and embed ideas by using modifiers, standard coordination, and subordination in complete sentences.

i) Revise sentences for clarity of content including specific vocabulary and information.

j) Use computer technology to plan, draft, revise, edit, and publish writing.
6.8  The student will edit writing for correct grammar, capitalization, punctuation, spelling, sentence structure, and paragraphing.
   a) Use a variety of graphic organizers, including sentence diagrams, to analyze and improve sentence formation and paragraph structure.

   k) Evaluate, organize, and synthesize information for use in written and oral formats.
   l) Use reading strategies to monitor comprehension throughout the reading process.
Writing

8.7 The student will write in a variety of forms, including narration, exposition, persuasion, and informational.
   a) Identify intended audience.
   b) Use prewriting strategies to generate and organize ideas.
   c) Distinguish between a thesis statement and a topic sentence.
   d) Organize details to elaborate the central idea and provide unity.
   e) Select specific vocabulary and information for audience and purpose.
   f) Use interview quotations as evidence.
   g) Revise writing for clarity of content, word choice, sentence variety, and transitions among paragraphs.
   h) Use computer technology to plan, draft, revise, edit, and publish writing.

8.8 The student will edit writing for correct grammar, capitalization, punctuation, spelling, sentence structure, and paragraphing.
   a) Use a variety of graphic organizers, including sentence diagrams, to analyze and improve sentence formation and paragraph structure.
   b) Use and punctuate correctly varied sentence structures to include conjunctions and transition words.
   c) Choose the correct case and number for pronouns in prepositional phrases with compound objects.
   d) Maintain consistent verb tense across paragraphs.
   e) Use comparative and superlative degrees in adverbs and adjectives.
   f) Use quotation marks with dialogue and direct quotations.
   g) Use correct spelling for frequently used words.

Research

8.9 The student will apply knowledge of appropriate reference materials to produce a research product.
   a) Collect and synthesize information from multiple sources including online, print and media.
   b) Evaluate the validity and authenticity of texts.
   c) Use technology as a tool to research, organize, evaluate, and communicate information.
   d) Make sense of information gathered from diverse sources by identifying misconceptions, main and supporting ideas, conflicting information, point of view or bias.
   e) Cite primary and secondary sources using Modern Language Association (MLA) or American Psychological Association (APA) style.
   f) Publish findings and respond to feedback.
   g) Define the meaning and consequences of plagiarism and follow ethical and legal guidelines for gathering and using information.
